The Outstanding Cartoonist of the Year is chosen by a secret ballot of the members of the National Cartoonists Society. The Reuben Award is the highest honor that the profession bestows. As with all the NCS awards, the winner need not be a member of the Society. The award was previously called the Billy DeBeck Memorial Award, and the recipient received an engraved silver cigarette box.

On the other hand, the fact that there is No Such Thing as Bad Publicity no doubt attracted more readers to the strip and boosted Larson's circulation. Go figure. One thing about Cow Tools is that it can be useful for hiding a clever Chekhov's Gun among them. Everything else has no purpose in the story, except for that one thing... Subtropes include:

The meme content itself is usually something of minor everyday consequence: jokes about dad, urban legends, TV shows (including shows like Arthur, which has generated its own genre of memes) and movie references, human and animal oddities. In rare cases, memes can be profound art and music curiosities, and even philosophical ideas.
